Reviews

A high quality pdf as well as the typeface applied was exciting to see. It really is written in simple words and phrases rather than difficult to understand. You will not really feel monotony at any time of your time (that's what catalogs are for relating to in the event you question me).

LAP LAMBERT Academic Publishing. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 128 pages. Dimensions: 8.7in. x 5.9in. x 0.3in. There is a need of time to create awareness about adolescent depression, its associated factors especially cognitive correlates in clinical and normal population, so that appropriate and effective interventions and preventive measures can be undertaken. Thus the present study was conducted to explore the relationship between cognitive errors and anxiety and their role in depression among adolescents. The study also aimed to examine differences of cognitive errors and anxiety among depressed and non-depressed sample of adolescents. To conduct this study, clinically diagnosed depressed adolescents were taken from Hospitals of Rawalpindi Islamabad, Pakistan. A comparative was also taken from normal population. The findings suggested that depressed adolescents show more cognitive errors and high level of anxiety as compared to non-depressed group. The role of gender, family system and social economic system were also explored. There are significant implications of the higher rates of cognitive errors among depressed individuals. The understanding of the correlates and mechanism of cognitive errors would likely shed light on important aspects of vulnerability factors of recurrence. This item ships from multiple locations. Your book may arrive from Roseburg,OR, La Vergne,TN. Paperback.
