Excerpt: . decent in their swearing in 1608, and yet he complains of them! Surely, Thomas was too squeamish. He says, The French guides, otherwise called the postilians, have one most diabolicall custome in their travelling upon the wayes. Diabolicall it may well be called: for whensoever their horses doe a little anger them, they will say in their fury, AUons, diable, that is, Go, thou divell. Also, if they happen to be angry with a stranger upon the way upon any occasion, they will say to him, Le diable femporte, that is, The divell take thee. This I know by mine owne experience.--C.
